1949 GARDEN SENSATION

New! BRECK'S Miraculous CUPPED AND FEATHERED COSMOS

- Fascinating
Flower Forms
- Blooms
All Season
- Splendid
For Cutting

Admirers of "the human form divine" will find among these "Cupped and Feathered Cosmos" blooms the flower form divine, for here is a garden novelty of the first order, new—entirely new—an almost complete breakaway from the well known Cosmos, with blooms cupped like Campanulas; some with deep cups, some with shallow cups, all with laciniated edges, and a few with fascinating feathers that dart out from the centers of the flowers, completely baffling the imagination.

Those who plant the seed of this entirely new Cosmos will get thrill after thrill, for it should be said that this is no fully tamed and domesticated member of the garden family, for no two flowers will be exactly alike. An individual plant may throw blooms of distinctly varying form—some early blooms will closely resemble the Cosmos flowers you know so well—but wait and see! All the rest of the Summer, right up until frost you will be amazed at the variety of intriguing forms. A few flowers may even be white, otherwise you will have clouds of pink blooms that will charm and entrance you more than anything that you have had in your garden for years—and years. Grows about 4 feet high.

1 ounce should produce 2000 plants

BEETS

Time to Plant—Sow quite early in the Spring (about April 20) and at intervals, from then until about July 25.

SWEET CORN

Time to Plant—Sweet Corn is a rather tender plant and therefore seed should not usually be planted until about May 1 and then only if the weather is settled and reasonably warm. Plantings may be made at intervals, from that time until about July 1 using early varieties for the later sowings.

Seed Sowing—In the home garden it is best to sow Corn in rows which should be spaced about 3 feet apart. The seed should be sown very thinly; covered to a depth of one inch and the resulting plants thinned to stand about one foot apart. In larger field plantings the usual practice is to plant in hills spaced at least 3 feet apart each way. Four or five plants are allowed to each hill.

1 pound of Corn should plant a 200 foot row

All varieties are suitable for freezing

LETTUCE

Time to Sow—If a very early crop is desired, seed may be sown about March 15 indoors in flats or in a coldframe; outdoors sowings may be made as early as April 1 and successively until about June 1. As Lettuce prefers cool growing weather it is best to discontinue sowings during the hot Summer months except for certain varieties. A Fall crop may be sown from August 1 to August 15.

Soil—Indoor sowings should be made in finely prepared loam. Any well-drained and enriched garden soil will suffice for outdoor plantings.

Planting—Sow the seeds outdoors in rows 2 feet apart and cover with not over $\frac{1}{4}$ inch of soil. When the plants are large enough to handle thin out and use or transplant to other rows, allowing 1 foot between plants.

1 ounce of seed should produce about 3000 plants

TOMATOES

Time to Sow—It is best to sow indoors in flats, or in coldframes, during April, but seed sown outdoors in early May will produce fruit in September.

Planting—When sowing use a good light sifted loam and broadcast the seed thinly over the surface, cover with not more than $\frac{1}{8}$ inch of soil. When the seedlings are from 2 to 3 inches high they should be given ample space for proper growth. Either transplant or thin out so that they will be about 3 inches apart. After all danger of frost is past these plants should be hardened off, by gradual exposure to the out-of-doors, during favorable weather; transplanting them to the garden about May 20th. Space the plants about 3 feet apart in the rows allowing 4 feet between rows. Closer planting is possible if the plants are to be staked.

PEAT MOSS

Fine Horticultural Grade

One of the best known and most widely used of commercial products for conditioning soil and for mulching beds and borders. Except for old fashioned, strawy barnyard manure, no other product so nearly fills the need for organic matter in the soil. The addition of substantial quantities to the garden will increase the soil's ability to hold moisture through dry weather, will aerate the ground, and will so improve the texture of clay soils that they will not form hard top crusts. It is impossible to mention the many spots where Peat Moss may be used to advantage, but for mulching Evergreens, Roses or Strawberries, it is hard to beat. A full bale will cover 250 square feet, approximately one inch deep.
